Tuesday, an ad was put in "The News" to run for three successive days, to rent three rooms. This morning came an urgent request from the advertiser "Please discontinue the ad in the paper; I have had a 'million' calls already, and I can't get my work done for answering the telephone."

Pennsylvania Game commission officials urged every citizen of the commonwealth to observe Bird and Arbor Day which Governor James H. Duff has proclaimed for Friday, October 17. The economic and esthetic values of these two great natural resources, to a large extent interdependent, are tremendous.

It may be postwar jitters, or it may be tension arising from the Russian tactics in the UN. Or it could be a bit of second hand war mongering. Whatever it is, the rumor that shells, ammunition or war equipment are being made in Lawrence county is false. Plants engaged in war production during the war are now in peace time work and might be busy at that. Not only is there no war materials being manufactured, but there is no thought of their being manufactured.

New Castle's downtown business section was colorful with Community Chest flags today as the annual drive got underway. It was also noted that red feather emblems were painted on many of the sidewalks, and clever window displays added to the start of the campaign.

When permission is granted for placing streamers across Washington street at Mill street, to advertise events in the city, some arrangements should be made for removal of the signs. This morning, one was still floating across the street, and the event scheduled occurred nearly two weeks ago.

U.S. To Stand Firm On Korea

By PIERRE J. HUSS
LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Oct. 15.—The United States decided today to stand firm on its determination to press for Korean independence in the United Nations and to reject Soviet Russia's demand for a mutual withdrawal of American and Russian troops.

Andrei Vishinsky sharply criticized Secretary of State Marshall for placing the Korean issue before the General Assembly.

Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov still awaits the formal United States reply.

The American delegation, meanwhile, is drafting the proposal it intends to give the UN Political and Security committee on Friday.

Subway Breakdown Under East River

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—(INS)—Scores of persons were trapped temporarily under the East river today when a rush-hour IRT subway train from Brooklyn broke down in the Clark street tunnel.

By 10 a. m.—90 minutes after the accident—emergency repairmen still had not been able to move the train.

Some of the passengers, many of whom were reported hysterical, got out of the train and walked along the side of the tracks to the Manhattan end of the tunnel.

Police ripped up a grating over an emergency exit there to let them out.

Rescue 69 From Flying-Boat In Mid-Atlantic

All Of Persons Aboard Huge Flying Boat Forced Down At Sea Saved

PLANE WILL BE SUNK BY GUNFIRE (BULLETIN)

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—(INS)—The U. S. Coast-guard Cutter Bibb completed the epic-Mid-Atlantic rescue of 69 seasick occupants of the Bermuda Sky Queen today and prepared to sink the derelict flying-boat with gunfire.

Twenty-five passengers and crewmen were removed this morning from the bobbing four-motored plane to complete a saga unparalleled in annals of the sea.

The huge Boeing, operated by the American International Airways on a charter flight from Britain to the United States, was hailed as a "staunch old girl" by the captain of the Bibb for holding together since its forced landing in storm-tossed seas at dawn yesterday.

Capt. Paul Cronk of Waban, Mass., reported to Coastguard headquarters in New York that the rescue was completed at 6:10 a. m. (EST) after a favorable turn in the weather.

In a radio broadcast from the Bibb at 8:02 a. m. EST, Cronk said that the flying boat was "derelict", adding:

"We surely will sink her with explosive gunfire to keep her from being a menace to navigation."

"She goes down in a blaze of glory. She was a staunch old girl and she held together long enough to save the lives of her 69 persons on board."

The plane suffered damage to its left wing and pontoons in the forced landing near the Bibb, on weather station duty, when it ran low, on bucking headwinds of gale force.

Forty-four of the passengers were rescued last night and, with the new arrivals aboard the Bibb, were given warm food and ordered to rest so they could forget their nightmarish ordeal.

The Coast Guard meanwhile cleared up some of the confusion that had developed as to the actual number of occupants in the Sky Queen when it reported a late message from the Bibb gave the number as 69. This included 62 passengers and seven crewmen.

Former Secretary Of State Byrnes Tells Of Secret "Big Three" Deals

By JAMES LEE (U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—James F. Byrnes, former secretary of state, bluntly warned the leaders of Soviet Russia today that as Hitler learned, so must they: "The world is not going to permit one nation to veto peace on earth."

Byrnes' admonition to the rulers of Russia is one of the highlights of his book, "Speaking Frankly" (Harper and Brothers), a candid account of his efforts as the late President Roosevelt's war mobilization director and as a peacemaking secretary of state.

The story tells of secret "Big Three" deals at Yalta, of Byrnes' many encounters with the stubborn Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, of the intra-cabinet battle which resulted in resignation of Henry A. Wallace as secretary of commerce.

The man who stepped from the Supreme Court bench at FDR's request in order to shoulder the burden of mobilizing America for war rattles many a wartime skeleton, lays many a wartime ghost.

He spikes the legend that relations between the United States and the Soviet Union began to deteriorate only after Mr. Roosevelt's death.

Byrnes reveals that shortly before he died the late president informed the Soviet leaders that he deeply resented the "vile mispresentations of Stalin's informers which reflected upon the President of the United States and his trusted subordinates."

Stalin's charge that American military leaders had entered into an agreement with German generals for an easy advance of U. S. forces, in return for which Germany was to be given easier peace terms.

Dry Spell In State Is Nearing Record

HARRISBURG, Oct. 15.—(INS)—The United States Weather Bureau at Harrisburg reported today that the extended dry spell in Pennsylvania was nearing record proportions.

A spokesman said there has been no appreciable amount of rain in the state for the past two weeks and since September 16 precipitation in the commonwealth has been far below normal.

The State Agriculture department reported that the drought threatened to affect winter grain crops.

Slash In Beer Production Is To Be Demanded

Presidents Food Saving Commission Considers Reduction In Size Of Bread Loaves

PUBLIC BACKING OF DRIVE INCREASES

By WILLARD UMSTEAD (U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—President Truman's food conservation committee today demanded a slash in beer production and considered reducing the size of bread loaves to speed up its grain-saving drive.

Chairman Charles Luckman plans a series of conferences during the next few days with representatives of the brewing and baking industries to line up the nation's bakers and beer-makers behind his program.

Must Cut Down Beer Making
Luckman told a news conference that he definitely believes that beer production must be reduced to save grain and he revealed that the question of smaller loaves of bread has been under consideration.

The food committee chairman, obviously pleased by what he considered favorable public response to his campaign, also promised the nation that the food-saving drive will be eased when conservation goals are met.

He declared that when 100 million bushels of grain, which President Truman maintains is needed for foreign relief, have been saved his committee will relax the restrictions urged on the nation.

But, Luckman said that "no changes are contemplated" in the conservation program at the present time. He specifically denied that elimination of poultryless days is being considered.

Drive In Second Week
The food-saving drive, meanwhile, moved well into its second week, with reports of improved public observances of "meatless Tuesday" and committee officials confident that their "eggless and poultryless Thursday" will get more support.

Luckman said that the increased public backing of the meatless day indicated that "with increasing un-

Chest Workers Begin Drive To Secure $102,100

Campaign Is Launched At Enthusiastic Meeting At The Castleton Tuesday Night

FIRST REPORT ON FRIDAY AFTERNOON

Some 250 division leaders and workers are active in the greater New Castle area today as the annual Community Chest drive officially gets underway.

The worker-leader host came away from Tuesday night's kick-off dinner at The Castleton inspired and determined to make this year's effort one of the most successful in the history of the city.

A hard-hitting and invigorating speech by Dr. Wilbur E. Flannery launched the campaign as the physician called upon each one present to practice co-operation and sacrifice to ensure the triumphant completion of the drive.

Learned Spirit Of Cooperation
"If we have lived long in a community of this size, we have already learned the spirit of co-operation," he said, "and if we are to make this undertaking successful we must submerge ourselves into the difficult role of sacrifice of self and work hard and unceasingly until we attain our goal."

Dr. Flannery pointed out that it is every citizen's desire, whether large or small, to better conditions in the town he calls his own.

"You workers are convinced of the need of the Community Chest," the speaker added, "it is your job to 'sell' this idea to the passive and the scoffing in our community during the next two weeks."

Paul Dingley Presides
Following the invocation by Rev. V. Stancelewski, Paul Dingley, president of the Chest, addressed the workers, introducing past leaders in the campaigns, and presenting the 1947 general chairman, George F. Winter, Jr., who after brief remarks, turned the program over to Dr. Flannery.

The keynote addresses was followed by the introduction of the Executive committee, each of whom will have under their supervision many division leaders and their workers. They are H. B. Richards, 1946 chairman, Richard E. Rentz, Austin A. Webb, H. L.

City Manager At Wheeling Resigns Post

WHEELING, W. Va., Oct. 15.—(INS)—Wheeling city council's campaign to rid the city and county of its semi-legalized gambling took a new turn today, even as the prosecution of William "Big Bill" Lias, gambling czar, lagged.

City Manager William A. Hannig tossed the "hot potato" council had handed him in ordering the anti-gambling drive, back to the councilmen as he announced his resignation in a seven-page letter.

Council "reluctantly" accepted the resignation.

Hannig, named to the $7500-a-year job only last Aug. 15, had told council he could not attempt to enforce anti-gambling laws in Wheeling. He said in his resignation that gambling had been operating in the city for years.

RED FEATHER HAT WILL GO TO LUCKY WOMAN IN NATION

An original "Red Feather" hat symbolizing the Community Chest campaign, designed by Lillie Dache for Hedda Hopper, will go to the lucky woman whose name is drawn during the present drive.

In Chest efforts the country over, first-round drawings are made and these names sent to National Headquarters where the final selection will be made.

The name of Mrs. Anna M. Bergland, 329 Laurel Blvd., was drawn at Tuesday night's kick-off dinner at The Castleton.

The final winner is scheduled to appear on the radio program "We The People" later in the month.

Summon Foreign Policy Leaders For Briefing

Truman Administration Experts Want Europe's Economic And Political Picture

By WILLIAM THEIS (U.S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—Legislative foreign policy leaders were invited to the State Department today for a "briefing" by Truman administration experts on Europe's economic and political crisis.

At least three members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, including one Republican, plan to meet at 3 p. m., with Lewis W. Douglas, U.S. ambassador to Great Britain and other authorities on the situation abroad.

Sen. Connally (D) Tex., ranking Democrat on the Senate committee, said that both he and Senate Minority Leader Barkley (D) Ky., will be present at the meeting. Sen. Hickenlooper (R) Iowa who returned from Europe with Barkley this week and was the only GOP committee member in Washington, also accepted the invitation.

President Truman and his cabinet heard what was described as a grim report on Europe Monday from Douglas and other diplomats now home for conferences. The latter include Gen. Walter Bedell Smith, ambassador to Russia, Gen. Lucius D. Clay, military governor of the U.S. zone in Germany, and Robert D. Murphy, Clay's political adviser.

The same report on the urgent need for action to help Europe avert Communist and economic collapse is expected to be given the senators today.

Miss Mae E. Owen of Pittsburgh, was the week end guest of Miss Alice Mills of Milton street.

He contended that was the policy until "one of the newspapers took an interest" and opened an anti-gambling campaign.

Council named City Engineer Jay Henry as interim city manager.

Meanwhile, a delay in the trial of Lias, indicted with 23 others on gambling charges last week, was granted until Friday, on motion of Assistant Prosecutor Thomas O'Brien.

Also cited for their excellent work in preparing the ground work for this campaign were L. J. Lewis, publicity coordinator, and Lauri Laurell, in charge of arrangements.

Chairman Winter, in making the closing remarks, reminded the workers host of the tremendous task before them.

"Already we have had gratifying pledges from many quarters," he announced, "but we have a big job to perform. It will take the sincere and untiring efforts of each of you to make this drive a success and attain our goal of $102,100."

The chairman praised the group for their enthusiasm and willingness to serve and placed his confidence in them as the drive stood ready to begin.

The dinner meeting was closed by the benediction, pronounced by Rabbi Iwan J. Gruen.

Workers will bring their first campaign reports to the Castleton Hotel Friday afternoon, it was announced by chairman Winter.

delegates voted to abolish the federal's 13th vice presidencies. And by the same token they voted "Old John L." out of the AFL's high command.

Future Moves Awaited

Whether Lewis would make any further move in the controversy was a question eliciting much speculation. But it was held unlikely that he would again pull his 600,000 miners out of the federation as he had done a dozen years ago when he helped found the CIO.

His future role was believed likely to be that of a "lone dissenter" standing apart from the federation's top leaders but keeping his union within the AFL fold for the advantages such affiliation holds.

Although he announced in his dramatic convention speech yesterday that he would not stand for reelection to the executive council if the vote went against him, he indicated at the same time he was not planning a secession of his union from the federation.

FORMER SECRETARY TELLS OF SECRET 'BIG THREE' DEALS

quickly informed President Truman he would resign unless Wallace were silenced. He told the chief executive:

"The world is today in doubt not only as to American foreign policy, but as to your foreign policy."

Advocating an early peace treaty with Germany, Byrnes considers the possibility of United Nations action to force Russia to withdraw from the conquered country. He adds:

"I hope, believe, and pray that the leaders of the Soviet Union will never force us to this course of last resort. But they must learn that unless they learned — that the world is not going to permit one nation to veto peace on earth."

Secret Decision

Although Byrnes attended the Yalta conference, he states that he had become secretary of state, did he learn of the top secret decision in which it was agreed that in return for Soviet participation in the war against Japan, Russia would be given the Kurile Islands.

Byrnes calls upon the United States, in its Far East policy, to fulfill its promise of a unified, independent, and democratic Korea, and declares that conclusion of an early peace treaty with Japan is necessary.

He demands American retention of atomic superiority, reasoning: "It would be unfortunate if hostile governments possessed atomic bombs. But, it would be even more unfortunate if we threw our bombs away gave our information to an international organization with inadequate power to exercise effective control, and thus enabled another government to manufacture bombs without our knowledge far sooner than otherwise would have been possible."

He asserts that it is Molotov, not Stalin, who is responsible for the failure of the United States and the Soviet Union to agree on German peace terms.

The food committee also announced that it has no objections to the American people eating meat by-products such as liver, kidneys, brains, sweetbreads, pigs feet, tripe, oxtail and tongue on meatless Tuesdays.

an inch. In comparison, there has been no "measurable amount" of rain during the first two weeks of October this year, they said.

Forecasters explained that the lack of rain was traceable to a cold air mass which brought record-low temperatures during September. The cold dry air disrupted the northward flow of warm, moist air from the south and blocked an inflow of rain-bearing winds, they said.

Paul and Elmer Robinson of Wellsville, O., have returned home after spending the week end with their mother, Mrs. L. Robinson of Sampson street, who has been ill for the past two months but is now up and around the house.

"You Take Care of the Other Details..."

That expression of confidence is one in which Boyd Funeral Service takes great pride. It means that our standards of fair dealing, and our efforts toward competent personal service have not gone unnoticed.

These are important items to consider when you require funeral service. Much of your ultimate satisfaction will depend upon them.

U. S. Reporters In Europe Rate High

PARIS, France, Oct. 15.—An important channel of understanding between Europe and America is the American press. The American newspapermen and women in Europe who write from day to day about European events are a definite part of our representation abroad.

This may be a prejudiced point of view but it seems to me they are fully as important a part of our representation as the American diplomatic corps. And in some places they rate a lot higher.

Their chief job is to report what is happening from day to day for American readers. But for many Europeans the American reporter is a kind of outpost representing a press that has its goal objectivity and freedom of expression in the news columns. It often falls far short of that goal but the fact remains that it is the goal.

Larry Allen, correspondent for the Associated Press in Warsaw, Poland, is an example. For months the Polish government conducted a vicious personal campaign against him in the Polish press and on the radio.

Allen stuck it out. The Communist controlled government was furious because Allen was reporting the facts as he saw them. But Allen stuck it out. He is still in Warsaw reporting the facts as he sees them and the great majority of the Polish people know it.

As an American citizen Allen tries to steer clear of the tangle of political prejudices that bedevil everything in Poland. If he were a Pole this would be difficult or impossible, a fact which points up the importance of sending trained American reporters to Europe.

Reporters for the press associations work under great pressure, particularly when a big story is breaking. One of the ablest in the business over here is Edward Murray, head of the United Press Bureau in Rome. When Trieste was in the news recently, as the territorial provisions of the peace treaty took effect, Murray worked at least 14 hours a day at top speed.

Responsible For Pressure
Part of the pressure is for the kind of story which will make national headlines. This pressure is responsible for one of the weaknesses of American reporting in Europe. Everything tends to get told in terms of big-bing-bing, the cowboys are coming to save the heroine from the bandits.

Correspondents who do not have to work under that kind of pressure do a more mature job of reporting. They are able to tell America.

The World and the Mud Puddles

POLITICS AND OBSTINACY

It might be of interest to President Truman and Attorney General Clark, in relation to the impending Justice Department inquiry into possible connection of monopolies with prevailing commodity prices, to read some figures lately compiled by Harry Wohl, Washington correspondent of the St. Louis Star-Times. Mr. Wohl's figures are from official sources. They disclose the astounding fact that this nation's bill for food during 1946 was two billion dollars less than its bill for government. Food outlays for the country's one hundred forty million people in that year totaled approximately forty-three billion dollars; federal government expenditures for the same year were just under forty-five billion dollars.

What They Got
When it is considered that the food expense of the nation is figured on an inflationary price basis, it is understandable that the people did not get forty-three billion dollars worth of food for the forty-three billion dollars spent.

What is not understandable is what they got in the way of government that was more to them than the food they ate. Even excluding defense outlays, Mr. Wohl shows us government cost practically half as much as food last year. It is interesting to note also that the per capita cost of federal government for 1946 was Three Hundred Sixteen Dollars, while the per capita food cost was Three Hundred Two Dollars.

Only National Government
The government costs cited are only those of the national government. If the bill for state and local government is added, it is evident that government costs are immensely greater than food costs. By way of comparison it is shown that food expenditures in 1929 were more than five times government expenditures—about twenty billion dollars as against about four billion dollars. The disproportion increased steadily from the time the New Deal came into power. Government expense reaching some ten billion dollars in 1940 as compared with a national food bill of seventeen billion dollars. Our biggest annual bill for government was in 1944—at the peak of the war—when it reached the staggering sum of ninety-seven billion dollars; our food bill for the same year was less than one-third of that amount thirty-two billion dollars.

More Than Coincidence
There is more than coincidence in the fact that government outlays paralleled the increase in the federal payroll, which in the last year of the war numbered 3,769,646. As of 1946 the average was still at the astounding figure of 2,722,031. Thus far the only noticeable reductions in this payroll have been

Wise Parent Who Sets Example

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

YOUNGER CHILD'S HOMEWORK

Most children below the third and fourth grades have no lessons assigned at school to be done at home. But a good many parents on discovering that their child is not getting on well at school in reading, spelling, arithmetic will try to help him in one or all these subjects at home. A few other parents supposing the school child of any age should do some school work at home assign him lessons, regardless of how he has progressed at school.

A certain mother writes:

Seven-Year-Old
"Dear Dr. Myers: My daughter, who will soon be seven years old, needs help at home with her school work. She was just not learning anything at school till the middle of last year, when I began to coach her at home following a talk with her teacher, who explained that she (the teacher) could not pin her down to learn and that the child's work habits were atrocious. There was great improvement as long as I spent time every day teaching her at home. And I must confess that she would pay attention only after I became furious and scolded and slapped. I do not like this method but I do not get any results until I do become thoroughly angry, which certainly is exhausting to me."

"I am afraid I did not keep up the after-school work so diligently towards the end of the year and she was promoted to the second grade conditionally. This summer I gave her an hour a day drilling her in reading, spelling and arithmetic to help her apply herself in the second grade."

I wrote this mother somewhat as follows: I can see how eager you are to help your child get on better at school. Also it is easy to see how you are tempted to grow angry with this child over her lessons and suppose you must chastise her when she makes mistakes and is inattentive while you help her with her lessons. But as you have observed your efforts do not win you the desired results.

Slapping a child or shouting at her when her attention lags can bring her to alertness for a moment but at the same time it stirs up hampering emotions in her which make her later efforts at learning less successful.

Bad Study Habits
While it is doubtless true that she has bad habits of study and work, you can hardly pound or scold good habits into her. She must enjoy some successes at reading, spelling or arithmetic in order to gain habits of concentration on mental work in these subjects.

Now, no one can learn best when upset emotionally. He must feel more or less at ease and hopeful. Besides, it is not what

One Man's Opinion

The CIO convention in Boston and the AFL convention in San Francisco sent their best wishes to each other and their worst to Taft and Hartley.

Meanwhile "I like Ike" campaign buttons have begun to appear. I hear he will demand a fair trial.

The road of vanquished and victor is equally difficult. Nothing at the end but the gallows in Nuremberg or the hot seat in Washington.

But associates of Dewey say a Taft-Stassen combine cannot stop him. . . . They're even certain he can be started again.

Since Stassen was seen speaking civilly to Taft the odds on his nomination have shifted. If he ever gets talking to Hoover he's through.

But I hear Hoover wired Taft: "When you think you're being abused come over and look at my scrapbook."

CHICAGO—Rep. Brown (R) O.: "I feel that in the southland there is a real opportunity to establish a great newspaper industry of benefit to the publishers of the U. S. and to the economy of the south."

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y.—Soviet Delegate Andrei Vishinski, replying to attack in UN political committee by Britain's Hector McNeill: "I am happy you have no objection to the comintern. The only trouble is there is no comintern. It is your nightmare."

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y.—U. S. Delegate John Foster Dulles at UN trusteeship committee meeting: "The U. S. believes that the old colonial system should be done away with. . . . It has put people of one race to rule over people of another race and that has been very bad for both races."

Health Talks

"LAUGH AND GROW FAT"
Laughter seems to be good for the health. A good hearty laugh seems to help a lot.

Growing fat is not so good. Obesity is one of our most dangerous conditions.

Too much eating makes people fat. A fat man eats more than he needs.

The extra nourishment is stored up in the form of fat.

The surplus fat causes a lot of trouble. It usually shortens the lifetime too.

A fat person needs medical care just as much as though he had heart trouble or smallpox or tuberculosis.

Laugh but do not grow fat.

Looking At Life

By Erich Brandeis

Every once in a while I go out to the United Nations at Lake Success (I hope they won't have to change the name to Lake Failure) and watch the procedure.

There is a lot of talk about democracy and equal rights for all men and all that sort of thing. But you ought to see the clapping, the red tape, the strutting, the "protocol," the procedural nonsense and all the other stuff that makes you wonder what human beings think they are.

There is bowing from the waist and all that pomp and circumstance, which is so aptly portrayed and kidded in Gilbert and Sullivan operettas, and almost any moment you expect a chorus of boys and girls to come up on the dais, doing a dance to the tune of "What Great Little Folk Are We?"

The smaller the nation, the greater the dignity, as a rule. The one exception is that wonderful little fellow, General Romulo, of the Philippines, who shows more brains than almost anybody else in that august assembly and whose oratorical ability is out of this world.

No wonder those folks out there can't get together on a simple peace formula.

Everybody wants to be the great "I AM" and everybody looks with suspicion on the fellow next to him and wonders when he is going to be insulted.

How refreshing, in contrast, it was to read about President Truman's unannounced visit to a small Washington church a couple of Sundays ago.

Here was the head of the world's most powerful nation, walking eight blocks, accompanied by a single secret service man, sitting down quietly, like any ordinary citizen, listening attentively to a simple sermon.

After the sermon the minister asked him to say a few words to the kids who were about to receive their "Rally Day" certificates of promotion.

He talked to them in homely, not particularly original or clever words, and told them how much he liked children and how necessary faith is in these troubled days.

Then he shook hands with the pastor and a few others and walked back home to his Sunday midday dinner.

I don't care whether you like Truman or not. I don't care whether you are Democrat or Republican.

But a country in which the President—who could have all the display and show he wanted if he wanted it—acts like you and me and our neighbor down the street, is not a country of warmongers and power-seekers.

A country like that is a country of peace and a darn good country to have for a friend.

I am sorry that our ambassador to Russia issued that blast against the Russian press. He should have ignored it.

Why argue with fools?

FISHERMAN DREAMS

Now to the attic the fisherman goes,
Done with the joy of the streams.
Taking down only his dreams.

No more the cry of the gull in his ear,
No more the song of the waves.
Into a corner he stacks up his gear.

Reveries, all that he saves.
Into the attic this stuff has to go,
Such is the law of the wife.

Things have their season, but fishermen know
Dreams can be cherished through life.

Attics the boots and the old garb conceal.
Silence and dust must be theirs.
Fisherman, put away net, rod and reel!

But dreams can be taken down stairs!

Luckman's Choice Good Food Crisis Strategy
Atomic Energy Use Believed To Be Far Off
Says Bi-Partisan Policy Will Come Through

Special to Central Press
WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—President Truman employed an old, but always effective, psychological stratagem in appointing a citizens committee to evolve a program for meeting the related problems of high prices at home and threatened famine abroad.

With all authorities agreed that foreign needs could not be met without some form of domestic conservation, enforced or voluntary, the president felt the American people would respond wholeheartedly to an "eat less, waste less" appeal from a group representing all fields of endeavor.

The chief executive is said to have believed that such an appeal would earn a more enthusiastic response than would have been the case had he, alone, called upon Americans to eat less.

Observers regard the chief executive's choice of Charles Luckman to head the committee as a singularly fortunate one. Americans love a "success story". Luckman, who at 38 heads the great Lever Brothers soap company operations in the United States, epitomizes the Horatio Alger hero.

On the other hand, co-operation from labor can be expected through inclusion of the AFL's William Green and the CIO's Philip Murray on the committee.

Also represented are spokesmen for agriculture, radio, the movies, women's organizations, government, the publishing business and a variety of other fields.

FUTURE ATOMIC POWER—America's top atomic planners see no hope of utilizing atomic power for international uses any time within the next 10 years.

One high Atomic Energy Commission official, with access to every secret detail on the United States atomic program, declares that scientists and others who forecast nuclear power plants within the next three or five or eight years are "unrealistic".

He believes that there is a chance a useable atomic power plant may be developed within 10 years, but even that will be only for a specialized use—for providing the power to operate a submarine or battleship, for instance. The official expresses doubt whether atomic power will ever supplant the hydro-electric plants.

BI-PARTISAN FOREIGN POLICY—High ranking Democrats are predicting that the bi-partisan foreign policy will survive the 1948 presidential election.

One of the top Democrats, who is in an excellent position to judge, forecast that while the rank and file of Senators on both sides blast away at their opponents' views the attempt for legislative unity will persist. The Democratic leader said:

"The bi-partisan policy will come through all right. On the outside, it will appear to be cracking at the seams. Maybe the turmoil will be so loud that it will sound as though it is flying apart."

"But when the smoke clears away and Congress convenes in 1949, we will find that we still are sticking together on foreign affairs."

LOVE AMONG THE DEMOCRATS—The "love feast" between Democratic Chairman-designate McGrath and Democratic Executive Director Gael Sullivan, cemented by President Truman, has doused what threatened to be inner fireworks for the party.

Sullivan's agreement to stay on at the invitation of J. Howard McGrath has smoothed over feelings of those who opposed the New Deal Rhode Island senator for retiring Chairman Bob Hannagan's post.

Before all became "beer and skittles" to the Democrats, many were surprised at the selection of McGrath's, who will take office Oct. 29, when the Democrats meet to pick the time and place for the 1948 convention.

Now, with Mr. Truman having called McGrath and Sullivan a "great team" for 1948, there is little or no chance for rebellion.

In View Of The News

By J. C. Ostreicher, IN$ Foreign Director

Millions of hungry European eyes looked longingly toward Washington, where full-scale plans for American assistance were drafted by President Truman and his top advisers.

Results of the deliberations will be top priority news abroad.

Upon them may depend the future of American democratic principles in Europe. For the winter of discontent that lies ahead will offer vast temptations to the half-starved hordes who might be willing to sacrifice liberty for a half barrel of potatoes.

From the roster of dignitaries assembled at the White House, it was clear that Mr. Truman wanted a complete and comprehensive picture.

Calls For Full Inventory
The conference agenda called for a full inventory of available supplies, the ultimate cost involved, the extent of commitments already made and the probable political outcome should the measures of aid adopted prove disappointing or unsatisfactory to the masses.

Particularly important was that General Lucius D. Clay and Special Ambassador Robert D. Murphy are on hand.

Their "beat" is Germany, and nowhere else in Europe are the political dangers of semi-starvation more apparent.

In the presence of American soldiers or civilians countless Germans look sullen and blue.

A visitor can ask directions and he is likely to receive a lackadaisical wave of the arm in exchange.

Many persons who have lived in Germany since the end of the war still are never quite certain whether they are being purposely misdirected or whether Berliners have forgotten their way around in the ruined capital.

Will Be Worst Winter
It can safely be said that this will be the winter that allied occupational officials feared the most.

Last year, there had not yet been great cuts in army appropriations, the UNRRA was functioning and Germany still had left a good deal of foodstocks that had been looted by Nazis from elsewhere.

Also a year ago, there was a far greater amount of cooperation between Soviet and American authorities. And no international committee of communist leaders had met in Poland to draft a campaign of all-out political opposition to success of the Marshall plan.

There have been several instances already of the Russians extending aid in food and fuel on cleverly-timed occasions when their gifts would return the greatest possible ideological dividends. Probably never before has so much been dependent upon generosity with the barest essentials of living.

Navy Forms First Carrier Squadron Of Jet Aircraft

Squadron VF-17A has the distinction of being the first squadron of jet airplanes formed for service on an aircraft carrier.

The jet planes of the squadron are Phantoms, designated FD-1 all powered by two Westinghouse turbo-jet engines. Quonset Point, R. I., was the station at which the squadron was formed. The squadron is assigned to the USS Franklin D. Roosevelt (CVB-42).

A considerable number of combat experienced pilots have been assigned to Squadron VF-17A, and these men are expected to form the nuclei of future jet-fighter squadrons. Comdr. Ralph A. Fuoss, USN, is CO of the squadron.

First jet fighters from a carrier were made from the Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1946. Besides the McDonnell-built Phantoms, other jet planes are being built for the navy by Grumman, North American and Vought.

Potato Crop In State Sets New All-Time Record

Favorable Weather In September Helped To Swell Potato Production

HARRISBURG, Oct. 15.—(INS)—The Pennsylvania potato crop reached an all-time average yield of 160 bushels an acre during 1947, it was reported today by the State Agriculture department.

A federal-state survey showed the yield exceeded the 1946 record by two bushels an acre.

Favorable September weather boosted potato production 1,100,000 bushels, bringing the total crop estimate to 17,600,000 bushels, according to the department.

Bumper Wheat Crop

A bumper wheat crop was reported with production estimated at 22,272,000 bushels, the largest in 10 years. Each acre of wheat yielded 24 bushels, four more than average.

Corn production, the department said, stood at 58,136,000 bushels.

Look what happens as a Telephone System Grows!

AS MORE TELEPHONES ARE ADDED, the more complex the telephone system becomes . . . and the more it tends to cost to provide good telephone service.

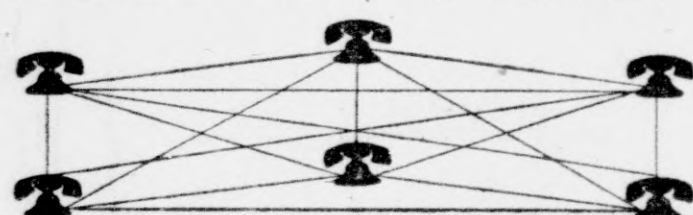

Let's see why this is so. Let's start with the simplest possible telephone system—two telephones connected by one pair of wires. Like this:

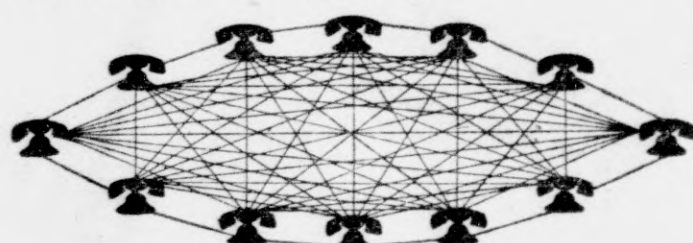

Now let's say that another family wants telephone service. This means that there must be three telephones instead of two, and three pairs of wires instead of one. In other words, we install 50 percent more telephones but 200 percent more wire! Like this:

Now let's say that three more families want telephone service. So our imaginary system grows to six telephones . . . and to interconnect six telephones, we must install 15 pairs of wires! Like this:

But no sooner has our system grown to six telephones than six more families, logically enough, want telephone service. Our telephone system has now grown to 12 telephones. That's only six times the number of telephones we had originally, but no fewer than 66 pairs of wires would be needed to interconnect them! Like this:

This system, of course, is imaginary. All this complexity, in real life, is centered in the central office. But the principle remains the same: As more telephones are added, the more complex the telephone system becomes . . . and the more it tends to cost to provide good telephone service.

State Housing Survey Will Be Started Soon

HARRISBURG, Oct. 15.—(INS)—The Pennsylvania Real Estate Association and the Veterans of Foreign Wars are split over the housing shortage.

State VFW Commander Frank C. Hilton's charge that "little has been accomplished" was counterbalanced by the association's announcement that the shortage was being relieved "slowly."

Stanley A. Gillespie, of Greenville, association president, predicted his announcement on a national housing survey but warned that a 10 per cent boost in dwelling costs was expected "within the next six months or a year."

A widespread shortage of materials, he said, would offset the slow increase in housing.

Approximately 1,000,000 new homes a year were being built in the nation, Gillespie said, with Pennsylvania represented proportionately. He did not estimate the number of new homes being built in the state but said that if the construction rate was maintained "more homes will be available in Pennsylvania and other parts of the country than at any time since 1942 when rent controls were imposed."

Gillespie explained the builders were investing money in new rental units because they were exempt from rent controls.

Only a material shortage will halt the increase in construction, he said, and pointed out that a scarcity of nails already had been reported.

Survey Housing
Meanwhile, Hilton announced that an 11-member committee would survey the housing shortage affecting veterans in the hope of obtaining an accurate evaluation of the problem.

Members were George Van Orden, of New Hope; chairman; John McFate, of Oil City; M. R. Kiefer, of Stroudsburg; Fred S. Hefner, of Pittsburgh; Raymond W. Sawdey, of Erie; M. M. Small, of New Cumberland; C. Timothy Slack, of Coatesville; Victor Brodman, of Philadelphia; Tobias Oberholzer, of Mahanoy City; and Clarence W. Wooding, of Primos.

Carrier Squadron Has Openings For Reserve Officers

Openings still exist in the Troop Carrier Squadron which has been formed at the Youngstown Municipal airport in connection with the Reserve Officers' Training program, it is announced.

The squadron which is being made up of men from an eleven county area, including New Castle and Lawrence county, has four planes on the field six days a week and all former pilots, who wish to get their hand in flying again are requested to join up with the squadron. Enlisted men who wish to become active in the reserve are especially invited to join.

The program consists of two days a month training, with unit instruction and promotion credits. On the job training is one feature of the plan, with the idea of building up a good reserve squadron that could be pressed into active service immediately if necessary.

The officers are on the job every day in the week except Monday and any enlisted man who wishes to get information about the training program, can apply at the Youngstown Municipal airport.

On the average a man's daily shower takes $7.50 worth of water a year, while a tub bath uses up only $3 worth.

WASHINGTON CALLING

ican readers what happens before the shooting begins if it does finally begin.

In Greece and the Near East such reporters as Philip Potter of the Baltimore Sun and George Polk of the Columbia Broadcasting System send out day-to-day reports that place developing events in a larger frame of understanding. This same type of reporting comes from M. W. Fodor of the Washington Post who has for so long made the Balkans his beat.

Only One Assignment

Papers such as the New York Times, the New York Herald Tribune, the Christian Science Monitor and the Chicago Daily News send out American correspondents who have only one assignment—to get the news. It is not an easy assignment. The correspondent must constantly buck the myriad regulations which require an official permit, duly stamped and taxed, to sneeze.

Traveling about Europe means visas and exit visas. It means difficult reservations and long and tiresome waiting for planes that are delayed or canceled. It means an infinity of customs inspection and money control, most of which is absurdly futile since the big operators seem always to circumvent the regulations.

Yet in spite of all this the correspondent manages to learn a great deal about what is going on. A good example is the reporting Harold Callender has done out of Paris for the New York Times on the 16-nation conference that formulated the Marshall Plan. Again and again Callender broke through the official silence which was mistakenly imposed to get the news.

Salesman As Well As Reporter

The Press Association reporter is likely to be a salesman for his service in the country in which he is stationed as well as a reporter. This can mean a handicap in getting out an objective news report which other reporters do not have.

Six days a week here in Paris the New York Herald Tribune publishes a newspaper that contains more real news than all the Paris papers rolled into one and with a big margin to spare. It is a first-rate American newspaper. On its editorial page it reprints editorials not merely from the parent New York edition, but from papers of varying shades of opinion throughout America.

That may be one reason why the Paris Herald is a "must" for government officials not merely in France but throughout Europe. They can get an idea of American opinion. And they can also see how American newspapers—or most of them—print the news without regard to opinion. On the news side, the headline for Molotov is as big as it is for Marshall.

THE WORLD AND THE MUD PUDDLES

made in the Army and Navy civilian employees, whose services cannot be justified in time of peace; the general payroll shows only trifling reductions, for the reason that employees discharged from one department or agency are merely transferred to berths in other departments or agencies. As showing the relation of this payroll to the outlays of the people for food, it is cited that the highest pre-war payroll was five hundred fifty-nine thousand in 1929, when the national food bill was more than five times its government bill.

Truman's Solicitude

President Truman recently expressed keen solicitude lest the price of coal should rise as much as a dollar a ton. Such a rise would mean to the householder using coal for fuel about eight to twelve dollars a year. At the same time—on the same day, as a matter of fact—Mr. Truman announced that he would veto for the second time a bill which was intended to reduce the low-bracket taxpayer's bill for government by one-third. The cost of coal is a minor expense to the average citizen, whether it appears in the higher cost of fuel or the higher cost of things made of steel. But the cost of government—three hundred sixteen dollars to every man, woman and child—is a real item.

Lower food prices cannot be obtained by legislation or government edict or even by prosecution of possible monopolists. But it is perfectly feasible to lower the price of government.

Only the President's obstinacy stands in the way.

COST ACCOUNTANTS WILL HEAR TALK

New Castle members of the Youngstown Chapter, National Association of Cost Accountants, are anticipating an interesting and instructive evening tonight, when Martin A. Moore, comptroller, Hyatt Bearing Division, General Motors will address the group at Tippecanoe Country club, Youngstown. The timely subject of the talk will be "How Inflation Affects Operation Reports for Management."

Second Suspect In Bank Robbery Is Held In West

WEST CHESTER, Pa., Oct. 15.—(INS)—State Police Lieut. Frank Gleason announced that the FBI has captured the second of two suspects sought in the $8,000 robbery of a West Grove bank last Thursday.

Quoting the FBI, Gleason said Norman L. Riskuba, 25, was arrested in Yuma, Ariz., along with Natalie Pierce, 17, of Lewisville, Pa.

The police officer said he was informed that $500 was found in Riskuba's pocket and that $3,100 more was stuffed in the fugitive's suitcase.

Lee V. Boardman, regional FBI chief, said previously that $3,988 of the bank loot had been discovered on the property of Lawrence Griffin, of Bear, Del.

Griffin is being held without bail on charges of participating in the daring daylight robbery in which a postoffice worker was wounded by gunfire from the fleeing bandits.

It had been reported that Riskuba was en route to "Buffalo or New York" on an elopement.

Eleven To Get Farmer Degree

Lawrence County Youths Who Have Shown Outstanding Accomplishments To Get Honor

TO GET DEGREE THIS EVENING

Eleven Lawrence county vocational agriculture students, who have shown outstanding work in agriculture, will be honored this evening at a meeting of Future Farmers of America, in West Sunbury, Butler county, when they will have the degree of county farmer conferred upon them. Two hundred farm youths from Lawrence, Beaver and Butler counties will attend.

Those to be honored include: Harold McConnell, Charles E. Reiber, Theodore J. Wallace, Walter C. Pearl and William H. Siekafuse, of East Brook; and Dale McClain, Raymond Klamar, Raymond Byers, Glen Clark, Alan Anderson and Joe Jameson, of North Beaver. In order to qualify for the degree, these youths must be enrolled as agriculture students in a high school; have an outstanding self-owned farming program; have money invested in farming or a bank account earned from profit earned in an agriculture program; have held offices in local F.F.A. Chapters, or appeared in public on an agriculture program; or demonstrations given as an aid to press or radio on agriculture matters; or to have had been a member of a judging team.

One of the Lawrence county youths has earned enough money to make a substantial payment on a farm, and another has been engaged as herdsman by a large Ohio dairy farm, and will manage the herd on this farm.

The boys accompanied by their teachers and by James L. Fink, tri-county Vocational Agriculture director.

Stassen To Enter Campaign With 100 Votes, He Says

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—(INS)—Former Governor Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota said today that he will enter the 1948 GOP convention with at least 100 delegates from six mid-western states where he has shown his greatest strength as a presidential candidate.

Stassen told a news conference there is "no basis" for rumors that he is teaming up with Senator Taft (R) Ohio, in the 1948 race and reiterated that he is not "running for vice president."

Stassen announced a "step-up" in his campaign for the Republican presidential nomination between November 10 and November 24 with publication of his book "Where I Stand," and a southern and Rocky Mountain state speaking tour.

Stassen declared that he does not have any "understanding" with Taft and does not expect to have. He said, however, he has not yet decided whether he will enter the Ohio preferential primary which is expected to endorse the Ohio senator.

COLD SNAP PREDICTED

Around Hollywood

By JOHN TODD

International News Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 14.—Beautiful Alexis Smith and her handsome husband, Craig Stevens, hope to have everything ship-shape around their new house by Jan. 1. That ordinarily wouldn't sound like news, except that it was just before last Jan. 1 that Alexis and Craig moved in. A year is a long time to get settled, even in Hollywood.

Of late, Craig has been making furniture. He completed a rough stone fireplace in the living room a couple of months back.

Simply Can't Wait

"I have to shop for drapes and a lot of other things," she said. Just as your reporter departs on vacation, Errol Flynn goes back to work, poor guy. He's starting "The Adventures of Don Juan," with the Swedish beauty, Viveca Lindfors, as the queen.

I ran into the producer, Jerry Wald, in a studio hall and he was glowing about the magnificent wardrobes for Errol and Viveca. Said Jerry, "the court costumes Flynn wears in this picture are so beautiful that the first thing you know they'll be calling him the male Lana Turner."

Sarongs All Gone
On the subject of clothes Dorothy Lamour no longer has a sarong to her name. She had 26 of them, but she gave them to different groups all over the country to use to raise funds for worthwhile causes.

Dottie has just completed a sequence in "A Miracle Can Happen" for producer Ben Bogeauss. She does a song number in the picture in which she kids Hollywood, herself and her sarongs.

Angela As Publisher
Over at M-G-M I sat down at luncheon opposite Angela Lansbury. She plays the newspaper publisher in Frank Capra's "State Of The Union." Before proceeding any further, this reporter would like to say that he has seen a lot of newspaper publishers, north, east, south and west, and never did he see one like Angela Lansbury.

There was one difference in Angela's appearance. A streak of white ran through her hair. It was a synthetic streak. Probably the studio figured that anyone who has to do with reporters would be driven to premature white hair.

Robert Taylor, who recently returned from a fishing trip, is delaying his usual fall hunting trip until he's called before the congressional committee probing communist activity in Hollywood.

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 15.—Janis Carter is one screen chick who doesn't give a hoot about the long-skirt fashion squabble.

Hemlines can completely obliterate their pedal-pushers, and Janis won't worry a whit.

She still reigns as queen of the sweater girls.

The honor of being the nation's No. 1 sweater sweetie was bestowed upon the blonde actress a few fortnights ago by a zealous Manhattan sweater guild. She wears her honors well.

Miss Carter also has attractive eyes. Columbia studios, in fact, insured the glimmers for one million bucks.

The Cleveland girl today explained her difference to the length of her sisters' skirts. She said:

"During the war a lot of the boys wrote me asking why movie stars sent them nothing but leg-art for pin-up pictures. That taught me a lesson. Since a fan letter is almost a command performance, I decided to see if I couldn't do more to help build up morale of our servicemen."

Has Nice Shoulders
"I went to Hollywood's ace camera artist, a fellow named Bob Coburn. Before I even finished talking he started snapping pictures of me."

Coburn shot shoulder art of Janis.

He is one of the few photographers extant who is bored by leg art. He claims it is professional cross cameramen must bear.

Give the guy a minute and he'll take hours itemizing reasons why everything about a female is photographically perfect. He believes too much emphasis has been placed on underpinnings and not enough on other details that sell feminine merchandise.

Pretty Secure Figure
So Janis took a leaf from Coburn's code. She started concentrating on her entire appearance, from scalp to sole. Which is why those sweater-makers in Gotham so gratefully named her their finest advertisement.

And Janis, as a result, is a pretty secure figure in the cinema world anyway you look at her.

She has eyes which Franchot Tone insisted be insured when he gazed into them during love scenes for a new flicker called "I Love Trouble."

Two of Miss Stewart's pupils, Anna Mae Cubellis, of this city, and Cheri Fay Kelly, of Fredonia, have both been selected to train with the Pittsburgh Civic Ballet.

White Lines Being Painted On New Highway No. 422

Three And A Half Miles Of Surface Already Laid On King's Chapel Road By Workmen

To make travel safer, when the new three lane road between New Castle and the Ohio state line is opened, white line painting was begun this morning by employees of the maintenance department of the local highway garage, Alfred Martin, county superintendent reported.

Permission was granted by the Groves Construction company, holders of the contract for the job, for the work to go ahead. Two broken lines will be painted dividing the three lanes, with the solid line to be painted at the intersections. This will enable the road to be opened at an earlier date when finishing touches are put on by the contractor.

King's Chapel Road
Good progress is being made on the King's Chapel road, which has been under construction since last spring. Already, three and a half miles of blacktop surface has been laid on the road, Mr. Martin stated. Base stone is being placed on other parts of the road as excavation by the road equipment permits. Work will be continued on the road as long as weather conditions permit. When machinery is pulled off the job for the winter, the roadway will be left in passable condition for school buses and other local travel during the bad months.

The completed portion of the road will open to travel on Thursday it was learned from the highway superintendent. Excellent cooperation has been received from residents along the right of way, who did not travel the route while the surface was being laid. Appreciation was expressed by the highway head for this cooperation.

Bessemer Improvement
Surface will be laid tomorrow on the one mile stretch of road south of Bessemer, where construction has been underway for some time. The work will take approximately three days with several days to elapse before travel will be permitted on the new road.

Cinder distribution work is to start on October 20 along with the preparation of sites for the installation of snow fence. Work is sealing the highways of the county for the winter weather ahead is already in progress.

Making Apple Butter In Croton

Applebutter making by old fashion method was in progress at the rear of the Croton Methodist church yesterday, and today. The Woman's Society of the Christian Service had six kettles boiling down at one time when the above picture was made. Mrs. Fred Kennehan and Mrs. Howard McQuiston who were in charge of the butter making said that the ladies expected to make about 90 gallons. The ladies have been making applebutter annually for quite a number of years. This is the largest stir they have made thus far.

VIRGINIA JASKOLKA,

J. FRANKOVICH WED

One of the loveliest of the autumn weddings took place Saturday morning, October 11, at 9:30 o'clock in Madonna church when Miss Virginia B. Jaskolka, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Jaskolka of 250 Atlantic avenue, and Joseph T. Frankovich, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Frankovich, 222 Atlantic avenue, were united in marriage. Rev. Frank Kuczynski officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a candlelight satin gown fashioned with a sweetheart neckline embroidered with beads and seed pearls, long pointed sleeves with the same embroidered motif at the wrists and the skirt fashioned with a bustle train. Her train-length veil fell from a Queen Ann crown of seed pearls and rhinestones. She carried a white prayer book encrusted with a corsage of roses and white baby mums.

Mrs. Violet Bryan, as maid of honor, wore an aqua taffeta gown with cap sleeves and peplum edged in lace. She wore a matching bonnet trimmed with ostrich tips and carried white gladioli, stephanotis and yellow baby mums. Mrs. Jayne Pataki and Miss Virginia Jaskolka, bridesmaids, wore identical American beauty taffeta gowns with cap sleeves and buttoned bodices, with matching bonnets and carried pink gladioli, stephanotis and white baby mums. Miss Arlene Barbara Cwynar, niece of the bride, as junior bridesmaid, wore a white taffeta off-the-shoulder gown with a sash of braided aqua and American beauty velvet ribbon and a white bonnet trimmed with aqua and American beauty ostrich plumes.

Edwin Jaskolka, brother of the bride, was best man. Nuptial music was played throughout the mass by the church organist.

A wedding breakfast was served in the church hall immediately following the ceremony. Supper was served to relatives and friends at 6 o'clock in the church hall and a reception for 300 guests took place later in the K. P. hall.

The young couple departed on an eastern wedding trip by auto and upon their return will be at home in their newly furnished apartment on Reynolds street.

FRIDAY, JAN. 9th "MADE IN HEAVEN"

By HAGAR WILDE

The plot of "Made In Heaven" deals with the humorous side of married life—the adventures, the quarrels and making-ups of Zach and Elsa Meredith. The situations are so true to life that every married couple will see themselves in the shoes of the Merediths.

The critics raved about "Made In Heaven" too. "John Golden knows a hit comedy when he sees one. He's done it again with 'Made In Heaven'."

"Should keep them laughing for at least five years."

began!

Says NORMAN BEL GEDDES,
Famous Industrial Designer

First editions, antiques and left-handed teapots interest some people as collectors' items. I'm no collector, except when it comes to used fats. I've been reading how urgently every pound of used kitchen grease is still needed. The government says that the present world supply of fats and oils to make so many things we all need is only a little better than it was last year. The only extra source to depend on is America's kitchens. That's why I've turned collector of used fats! Please, won't you keep saving and turning them in?

Court House

Bonded Debt Near $100,000 In 1948

Current Financial Picture Indicates Possibility Of Tax Raise Next Year

OTHER HAPPENINGS IN COURT HOUSE

It's good business in your home or your industry, or your government, to take a look at the financial picture occasionally. As a householder you should know whether or not you are solvent and as a taxpayer you have a right to the same information.

In the matter of bonded indebtedness, the county of Lawrence is in good shape. The bonded indebtedness is down to $134,000 and on July 1 a payment of $32,000 will be made bringing the total debt down to $102,000. This exclusive of interest due.

The sinking fund of the county contains $78,225.12 which means that the bonded indebtedness is provided for all but $57,000. Unless new indebtedness is incurred, the county will be debt free in 1951.

The current picture is not quite so good. As of October 10, there was in the general fund $259,927.34, which, with what receipts are taken in will have to last the county until about June 1948. The average monthly expenditure from the general fund is around $35,000.

No large receipts are expected between now and the end of the year which means that as of January 1, 1948, there will probably be between $150,000 and $175,000 to last until the new taxes come in. At an average of $35,000 per month this would mean an expenditure of around $180,000.

Government costs are rising and with commitments that will probably be made before the end of the year it appears that the 4½ mill tax levy now in effect will be insufficient.

The addition to the register and recorder's office is now at the point where bids can be asked. It is estimated the cost of the addition will be between $40,000 and $50,000. This would be an expense for 1948 and represents nearly a mill of tax.

NEW VOTING PRECINCT

A change in the voting place for the fifth precinct of the fourth ward was announced Tuesday by the county commissions. Heretofore it has been at 701 Lutton street. The new location will be at the residence of Walter Yaro, 1208 DuShane street.

HUNTING LICENSES AVAILABLE

Hunters will know the fall has arrived. The hunting licenses are in the office of the county treasurer and can be obtained at any time. Resident licenses are $2 and non-resident licenses are $3.50. The privileges for each are the same.

Deer season comes in December 1 and lasts through the 12th. On December 13 antlerless deer can be killed by hunters who did not get a buck during the regular season. Last year non-resident hunters were not permitted to shoot antlerless deer.

less deer. This year they are on the same basis as resident hunters. Rabbit season comes in November 1 and lasts through November 30. Bear season comes in November 17 and lasts through November 22.

Hunters can apply for a license by mail if they will enclose return postage.

GIVING EMPLOYER GIFT

Question: I have been working for my present employer for the past six months. I know he will give me a small bonus at Christmas. Must I give him a gift or will a card do?

Answer: Do not give him a Christmas gift. Send a card, addressed to both him and his wife, to their home. While an employer sometimes does give some remembrance to his employees, they should not give him a gift, unless they do so as a group or unless there is a personal relationship between him and an individual employee.

Question: I am planning a fall church wedding. Because of the numerous relatives in my family and that of the groom-to-be, I hesitate to have a reception, for I simply cannot invite all of both families and our friends. May I correctly eliminate the reception?

Answer: Why not have a luncheon or dinner (depending upon the time of your marriage) for your immediate family, the groom's immediate family and the members of the wedding party. In so doing, you cannot hurt anyone's feelings.

Question: I am a sophomore in college. Since it will be impossible for my fiancée and me to be married until we have completed our college educations, it is too soon for me to give her an engagement ring now?

Answer: If she is willing, your families give their consent and you have the money to buy a diamond ring, go to it.

Question: My daughter's engagement has recently been announced. The groom's family called on us, but I am an invalid and am unable to return their call. What then should be done? Also, must the bride be given away by her father?

Answer: Since you are an invalid, everyone will understand why you cannot return calls. However, the remainder of your family should return the call made by the groom's family.

SOME WEDDING DETAILS

Question: (1) When should wedding gifts be sent and (2) to whom should they be addressed? (3) Is it ever permissible to send something personal for the bride or the groom as a wedding gift? (4) When should they be acknowledged? (5) Is it ever permissible to exchange duplicate wedding gifts?

Answer: (1) They should be sent as soon as possible after receipt of the invitation.

(2) To the bride, always, and to her maiden name. Those sent, for some unusual reason, after the wedding, should be addressed to her new name.

(3) They should never be of a personal nature for either the bride or the groom, but rather some household item for their new home—silver, china, lamps, clocks, blankets, quilts or some similar useful article. This you should do even when only one of the bridal pair is known to you and your gift should be sent to the bride even if you have never met her.

(4) Gifts should be acknowledged as soon as they are received. Some brides think that "any old time" after they return from their honeymoon will do for thanking their friends for wedding gifts, but the meticulous bride-to-be acknowledges before her marriage each gift as it is received.

(5) Unless a gift is marked with the bride's initials, it is permissible to exchange duplicates for which she feels she would have no use. When the donor is a close friend, it is advisable to explain the duplication and ask for permission. Needless to say, this should be done when the gift would be wasted through duplication.

Answer to Mary: Since your wedding will be so informal, you may walk down the aisle with the bridegroom. However, things will be carried off more gracefully if you have music.

Present your problems to Miss Markel who will promptly mail personal replies to questions from readers inclosing stamped self-addressed envelopes.

LIQUOR STORES IN PITTSBURGH ARE NEARLY EMPTY

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 15.—(INS)—Pittsburgh liquor stores were virtually empty today after buying by worried tavern owners, fearful the 60-day distillery shutdown would cause shortages.

Philip Gundelfinger, district supervisor of the stores, scoffed at the shortage theory. He said: "I can't see any danger of a shortage because of the 60-day shutdown."

"Nearly all distilleries have enough one, two and three-year-old whiskey to bridge over the production gap that a two-month shutdown would cause."

It is claimed that fresh water may be found in places in the different oceans of the world. One of these is a place beyond the coast of Miami, Florida. This fresh water in the middle of the ocean is caused by a spring formed by a subterranean river.

Democratic Candidate for CITY COUNCIL

I take this opportunity to ask the voters of New Castle for their support in the coming election, but first the voter should know something of the candidates background.

I am 42 years old, born and raised near Slippery Rock, Pa. Attended Slippery Rock School and graduated from high school before my 16th birthday (4 years of High School). I also attended State Normal School. Later I took up Electrical Engineering in The American School, Chicago, and graduated as an Electrical Engineer.

When I was 21 years old I cast my first vote in this community and have never voted elsewhere. In 1925 I started as a brakeman with the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad and later was promoted to a conductor. I am still with the same Railroad with over 22 years of service.

In 1926 I married Mary E. Kemp, daughter of George L. Kemp, of Finch Street, New Castle. In 1929 we purchased our home at 926 Maryland Avenue where we still reside.

I have been President of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, Lodge 955, for the past two years, the previous term as Vice President. I am also a member of other Fraternal Organizations.

If elected I will put forth every effort for the improvement and welfare of our community.

PEOPLE OF NEW CASTLE, if you are interested in a change in the forces at our City Hall, now is the time to CHANGE them at the Election on November 4th. It is your privilege and duty as a citizen to vote, so use it.

I repeat that if elected I will do all I can for the welfare of our community. I assure I will be grateful to each and every one of you for your support and efforts during this coming election.

Locks were probably invented by the Egyptians a thousand years or so before Christ was born. In Egyptian temples archaeologists have found crude metal keys that must have fitted in wooden locks that have rotted away with time.

A survey in Ottawa, Canada, showed that children of wealthy parents averaged an inch taller and three pounds heavier than children of poor parents—a fact laid to nutrition and environment.

It is necessary that the beaver remain industrious. If it did not keep gnawing, and wearing away its teeth, the teeth would grow so long that it could not close its mouth.

Wartime Advisor To Jap Emperor Tells His Story

Marquis Koichi Kido, Begins Defense Against Major War Crimes Charges

By HOWARD HANDLEMAN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

TOKYO, Oct. 15.—Marquis Koichi Kido, the Japanese emperor's principal wartime advisor began his own defense against major war crimes charges today with a 150,000 word affidavit.

Kido, the man who recommended his co-defendant Hideki Tojo for the post of Japanese premier in 1941, submitted the document, based on his diary to the International War Crimes Tribunal of the Far East.

Emperor Speaks
As Kido began his defense, a casual remark made by Emperor Hirohito only last night became possible war trial material since the emperor's comment apparently contradicted an important segment of Kido's diary.

In the diary Kido wrote on July 31, 1945, that the emperor told him that the only course open in the face of defeat was an imperial retreat to an underground fortress which the Japanese army had built in Nagano prefecture (province) on Central Honshu Island.

Governor Torao Hayashi of Nagano prefecture said, however, that the emperor told him last night that he, Hirohito, had never heard of the underground fortress until he read about it in postwar newspapers.

Keeper Of Seal
At the trial itself, Prosecutor Joseph B. Keenan objected to the entire Kido affidavit but suggested that it be entered in the record with the understanding that the defense would omit repetitions and the privy seal, had daily contact over-argumentative material.

Kido, serving as lord keeper of with the emperor and was responsible for informing Hirohito on political trends.

Parade Event
The Homecoming parade on Saturday at 1:00 p. m. will include the Zellenople and Sharon high school bands as well as the college and the Slippery Rock high school bands. Floats and marching units representing the community and the college will be in the parade.

The football game between Shipensburg and Slippery Rock gets under way at 2:00 p. m. Neither team has been defeated this season and a real battle looms.

An informal dance in East Gym beginning at 9:00 p. m. will finish the day for students, alumni and community residents.

Vets Give Needs To ARC Committee

Sam Rashid, chairman of the community service to camps and hospitals committee of the Red Cross, announced today that he has received a tentative list of needs voiced by veterans in the Aspinwall and Deshon hospitals.

The requests include: filled Christmas stockings or bags, gifts for women, scarves, handkerchiefs, compact, toilet sets, jewelry, hose, cigarette lighters, wallets, tie and collar sets, gifts for children, assorted candies and decorative paper.

The committee, revived this year, will attempt to send these gifts to the hospitalized veterans, and it is planned to have the service organizations of the county contribute to this worthwhile project.

FIND NEW VARIETIES OF OATS SUPERIOR

Three varieties of oats, Clinton and Benton from the midwest and Mohawk from New York, promise to take the place of Vicland, which has failed in popularity because of disease in Pennsylvania.

In 19 extension demonstrations this year, where Clinton and Mohawk were compared, Clinton was ahead in 12 and averaged 61.1 bushels an acre compared to 59.3 for Mohawk.

Clinton was compared with Benton in 28 demonstrations. Clinton was quite consistently ahead of Benton, averaging 65.3 bushels to 59.5 for Benton. Benton, being later and taller than Clinton, lodged in several demonstrations.

Clinton was compared with Vicland in 34 demonstrations. Clinton averaged 64.5 bushels compared to only 36.2 for Vicland. Clinton and Mohawk are nearly a week later than Vicland, considerably taller and very much stiffer in straw.

Seed supplies will not be adequate to care for the demand next spring. Orders should be placed at once. Nearly all seed stores will have some seed and several local growers have certified Clinton oats.

TAKE PULLETS OFF RANGE BEFORE WEATHER GETS BAD

Lawrence County poultrymen must consider a number of conditions in keeping pullets on range now.

Among these conditions are weather, housing capacity, quality or range pasture, and development of the pullets. As long as the pastures are green and the weather favorable, healthy pullets will get along quite well.

However, when the pastures get bare, a spell of cold, rainy weather will cause muddy ground. Then the pullets must depend entirely on mash and grain mixtures for good nutrition, and there is little advantage in leaving them outdoors.

Some poultrymen have kept immature pullets on range until snow complicated the management problem. Generally, however, most poultrymen have sought to get early-hatched pullets into the house by October so that lights might be used if needed to prevent slumps in production during the season of higher egg prices.

Seasonal conditions vary from year to year. The poultryman, therefore, must try at all times to provide comfortable surroundings which will assure profitable production.

New Wilmington P.T.A. Considers Joining Council

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Oct. 15.—Advantages of affiliation with the state and national Parent-Teachers Association were explained by Mrs. Horace Allen of the Lawrence County Council to the local Parent-Teacher Association Monday night at the Methodist church.

Mrs. Allen displayed the various publications put out by national headquarters and explained the help received from council, state and national meetings. She answered questions concerning the method of affiliation, dues, etc.

Mrs. Ralph Buchanan, president, appointed Harold Burns and Fred Rowland to a committee to study the by-laws of the local organization with a view to changing them to coincide with regular PTA by-laws. They will report at the next meeting at which time a definite decision regarding affiliation will be taken.

Mrs. Selina Mack, director of music in local schools, reported there are now 41 instruments available for the study of music and that 46 students have showed an interest. She explained the steps being taken to organize a band and stated that it is hoped to present a concert in the spring.

Carlton Lehman reported receipt of $50 towards the band fund. The project committee was authorized to study the advisability of holding a dance during the Christmas holidays. Students, teachers and parents would be invited.

It was voted to sponsor purchase of a movie projector and sound system for the school. Students will stage various affairs to raise funds.

Desertions From Soviet Army Are Reported Higher

By TOM AGOSTON
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

FRANKFURT, Oct. 15.—(INS)—Desertions in the Soviet Army are on the increase, especially among those who dislike the idea of having to return to Russia.

This was revealed today in the official reports of interrogations of Russian deserters who have wandered into the American Zone of Germany.

It was estimated that since the final phase of the war, 75,000 Russian soldiers have deserted, and the total is growing because of dissatisfaction and discontent among all ranks.

Official Soviet concern over the situation was shown in the information supplied by deserters. They said death penalties have been decreed for anyone in the Soviet zone offering shelter by deserters.

Tours of duty in Siberia also are used as threats against would-be deserters.

In many cases, it was found desertions increased every time an official Soviet announcement was made that certain Red Army units were being shipped back home.

Dr. H. J. Stewart Speaks On India

U. P. Missionary On Furlough Addresses New Wilmington Rotary Club Members

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Oct. 15.—Dr. Harris J. Stewart, United Presbyterian missionary on furlough from Punjab, India, spoke to the Rotary, Monday, on the internal situation in India leading up to the present chaos.

The speaker showed that the present slaughter is a direct result of religious antagonism. The Moslems, Hindus and Sikhs, if tolerant of one another, would bring peace to the nation.

Political and economical forces are not at fault, he believes. Dr. Stewart stated the hope that the half million Christians in India will in some way bring about unification.

The missionary returned to the United States in March for a year and six months furlough. He is residing in New Wilmington.

DR. VEACH SPEAKS

Dr. Elizabeth Veach spoke to the Kiwanis club Monday night on the work of the Overlook sanitarium. She discussed the kind of patients worked with, and the results obtained.

Program Chairman H. J. Brennan arranged the meeting. A report on Halloween plans was made by Griffith Williams, chairman of that affair. Merchants are donating prizes to be offered for the best and most original costumes.

The book was purchased at a New York auction last January for $151,000, the highest price ever paid for a book. The purchaser was Dr. A. S. W. Rosenbach, internationally known rare book dealer, one of the group of 28 who presented the volume to Yale.

Need Proteins Every Day Says City Health Director

"Substitutes are never as good as the original," said Dr. W. A. Womer, city health superintendent today when informed by a News reporter that substitutes for meat to obtain protein were being urged.

"The human being is omnivorous. This means he eats everything, both meat and plants. One can get along on plants alone, but it is better to have a combination of animal and vegetable food."

"Protein is a necessity in a diet, as I wrote in my Monday health bulletin. Protein is to a body what parts are to an automobile. Growing children need it. It is a building material," he said.

Two Kinds Of Proteins

"There are two kinds of protein, animal and vegetable, and there is no substitute as good as the original. Vegetables are not as good as meat."

"It is second best, but in an emergency it is used instead of meat."

"We have two kinds of animals, meat-eaters and plant-eaters. Horses, cows and some other animals do not eat meat. Then there are the carnivorous, such as lions and tigers, who eat nothing but meat."

"The stomach of plant eating animals is large enough to allow them to eat a great amount. However, the stomach of lions and tigers is not constituted to eat plants to obtain protein."

Human Being Omnivorous

"The human being is omnivorous. This means he eats everything, both meat and plants. One can get along on plants alone, but it is better to have a combination of animal and vegetable food."

"Animal proteins are more easily assimilated in the body than vegetable proteins. Vegetable proteins are assisted in digestion by animal protein."

"Animal protein is found in meat, milk and products of milk, cheese and eggs. They may be substituted for fish, meat and poultry. But meat contains other things besides proteins that are beneficial."

"The human body demands both kinds. A small amount of meat goes a long way. One does not need meat every day but does need proteins every day," he concluded.

Detroit AFL Leader Fatally Stricken

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 15.—(INS)—Ed Thall, secretary of the Detroit, Mich., AFL Building Trades Council, dropped dead on Tuesday at the Whitcomb hotel in San Francisco.

Thall, about 60 years old, was a delegate to the national convention of the American Federation of Labor and was preparing to leave for today's session at the civic auditorium when he collapsed. It was believed he suffered a heart attack.

Estimates give the earth's fertile region, in square miles, as 33,000,000; steppe, 19,000,000; desert, 5,000,000; polar regions, 4,888,800.

Government Will Buy More Raisins

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—(INS)—The office of Sen. Downey (D-Calif.), announced Tuesday that the government has definitely decided to buy an additional 60,000 tons of raisins under its dried fruit purchase program.

The announcement by Downey's office confirmed reports in Washington that the Agriculture department will expand its dried fruit program to include further purchases from California growers and processors.

The additional 60,000 tons will bring total government purchases of raisins under the present program to 121,000 tons. The government already has bought 30,000 tons and is accepting bids of 31,000 more tons.

WAS'N'T FUZZY WUZZY

HARRISBURG, Ill.—(INS)—At a recent session the "kantaroo court" in Harrisburg fined three men a total of $60 for failing to comply with an agreement to grow beards for the Saline County Centennial. Furniture Dealer Lee Parker, fined $20, defended himself with the charge that whiskers are "unsanitary and unsightly". Leroy Barham, local automobile dealer, was fined $25 while Charles Walker, who runs a cleaning and pressing shop, was fined $15. The centennial will be held in Harrisburg three days beginning Oct. 23.

Truman Requests Governor Duff To Support Food Plan

President Asks For Full State Cooperation For Emergency Food Situation

HARRISBURG, Oct. 15.—(INS)—Gov. James H. Duff today had an appeal from President Truman for state support of the emergency food conservation program.

Organization of a promotion committee to inspire full cooperation of Pennsylvania's 10,000,000 citizens in observing meatless Tuesdays and eggless Thursdays was suggested in a telegram received by Duff.

Duff was expected to act immediately upon the request because he had announced he would respond to a request for gubernatorial support of the plan.

The president's telegram emphasized a need for full public support to make the program succeed, according to a spokesman of the governor's office.

The appeal was made 18 hours after congressional investigators reported citizens of famine-threatened countries generally were unaware of impending aid.

High School Boys Give Ideas On Long Skirts

Girls! You and Fashion had better look to your laurels and skirt hems. The lovely Maie is beginning to revolt, as was very much in evidence Tuesday outside Senior high school when a group of male students demonstrated their disapproval of the "long skirt," with placards displaying the slogan—"Our Answer to Long Skirts is Short Pants!"

All the boys in the demonstration had their pant legs rolled up to varying lengths. When The News photographer arrived on the scene, the boys had cornered Miss Norma Richie, a modest Miss with a fairly long skirt. Good-naturedly she listened to their heckling with a "No Comment" attitude for the press. The "males" felt differently about it. They asked that their names be used in this article so that their friends of the opposite sex might know their feelings about radical dress designs. In the group above with Miss Richie are: Ralph Carbone, David DiLulli, Ed Davies, Pete Macchia, Frank Papst, Joe Russo, and Don Kulklin. The idea of "Long Skirts—Short Pants" spread like wildfire and in no time at all the group of demonstrators grew to large proportions.

Library Showcase Contains Display

Famous Persons Send Autographs To Local Collector Of Photo-Autographs

Again an interesting hobby is displayed in the showcase of the public library, and this time it is the photo-autograph collection of famous national and international persons, belonging to Robert Brown of 206 East Sheridan avenue. The display is drawing a lot of attention from those entering the library.

Robert, a sophomore in the New Castle senior high school, has been collecting autographs for the past two years. His collection now boasts over 300 photo-autographs. He does admit, however, that he has had a few refusals. Nevertheless, the hobby is an intriguing one and Robert is still going to a lot of trouble in adding to his collection.

Among the autographs are included: Mahatma Gandhi, spiritual and political leader of Pakistan; Dr. Edouard Benes, president of the republic of Czechoslovakia; Viscount Mountbatten, head of the Southeast Asia command; Sir Bernard Montgomery, British army personnel; Lord Wavell, lord viceroy of India before India was declared free from British rule; Ernest Bevin, member of the British laborite cabinet; Stanley Baldwin, British statesman and former prime minister; George Bernard Shaw, playwright and author; Wilhelm Furtwangler, conductor of German symphony orchestra.

Mr. Brown has received a letter written in French from General Charles de Gaulle, great defender and former president of France, and a letter written in Spanish from Generalissimo Franco, dictator of Spain. The latter also included his photograph.

James Montgomery Flagg, noted artist, sketched his own photo in his book "Roses and Buckshot." James Hilton autographed his "Random Harvest" for Mr. Brown. Among the other photo-autographs are: Maestro Arturo Toscanini; President Grau San Martin, dictator of the Cuban republic; Gladys Swarthout and Lily Pons of the Metropolitan Opera; President Vincente Auriol of France, successor to Leon Blum; Franz Lehár, Viennese composer; the Imperial Maestries, Kaiser Wilhelm II; the Duke and Duchess of Windsor; Auguste Piccard, famed balloonist and aviator of Belgian descent, and General Maxime Weygand, French general and head of the famed Foreign Legion.

HEAR Peter Varonoff

Author of "12 Years Under Dictatorship"

Who will speak at the City Mission

17 S. Mercer St. FRIDAY at 7:45 p. m.

Peter Varonoff is an author, lecturer and evangelist. He lectured twelve years in Soviet Russia with his missionary parents. During that period of time Mr. Varonoff visited more than sixteen countries, studying existing conditions in Europe. He has come to know many of the outstanding Christian leaders in many nations. He is the author of a number of books on international and other questions. "Twelve Years Under Dictatorship," is his best known book.

He will relate his own experiences speaking in "Russia, God and Victory." His message will be illustrated with pictures, colored slides.

Rev. Peter Varonoff said that when the Germans attacked and the terror of war came, the people demanded the right to worship and the government acceded. Whether this was because of expediency or actually because of lessening in hostility to religion on the part of the communists, is not known, said the speaker. But, he told, that on June 22, 1941, when the churches opened in Russia, Marshal Stalin stood for an hour in a church in Moscow.

Mr. Varonoff is on a nationwide tour, sponsored by Russian Missionary Bible Society, Inc., to rouse Christians in America in missionary interest in Russia.

PITTSBURGH POLICE HEAR BRAND NEW ONE

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 15.—(INS)—Pittsburgh police were amused today at the excuse two women gave when they allegedly drove through a red light and struck another car.

Both women, Martha Randolph, 23, and Lillian M. Nelson, 39, insisted that a chance acquaintance named "Joe," and his friend had been driving.

Both men fled, the women claimed. However, police concluded that "both women are very stout" and there "wasn't enough room left in that little car for a midget."

In 1865, when Queen Victoria first entered Balmoral Castle in Scotland, old shoes were thrown after her for good luck.

MEDICAL MIRACLE

Today Your Pharmacist Drops A Few Facts About...

PENICILLIN

The drug that was discovered twice could well be said of Penicillin because Dr. Alexander Fleming did not arouse the interest of his medical colleagues when, in 1928, he announced that he had found a mould that would destroy bacteria. Years passed but no further development was made until acute need for antibacterial agents at the start of World War II brought about the "re-discovery" of this wonder drug when the War Production Board began supervising its commercial production in May 1944.

RILCO Laminated RAFTERS Build Better Barns

Stronger... More Wind-Resistant... More Usable Room

RILCO Laminated Rafter Barns have gained their present wide popularity because they give so much more value in so many ways.

Built with the famous RILCO laminated rafter arch, they are stronger, more durable, more wind-resistant. Their generous hay mow gives more storage space because it is free of posts and objectionable bracing. Their appearance is modern, streamlined, pleasing.

RILCO Glued Laminated Wood Rafter Arches are engineered for snow, wind loads, and the loads of stored products. They are factory-built by RILCO and delivered ready for erection. They are easy to erect, save labor hours and materials.

RILCO rafter arches are the strongest known type of framing. They are continuous framing members running from foundation to roof ridge, thus eliminating the joining of side wall to roof, which is the weakest point of ordinary construction. RILCO rafters are securely anchored to sill plate with special RILCO angle irons, and joined at ridge with RILCO metal ridge plates.

You can build any type and size of barn with RILCO rafter arches—specialized dairy barns with hay mow, loafing, feeding barns with drop-center hay storage to ground, or utility general purpose barns.

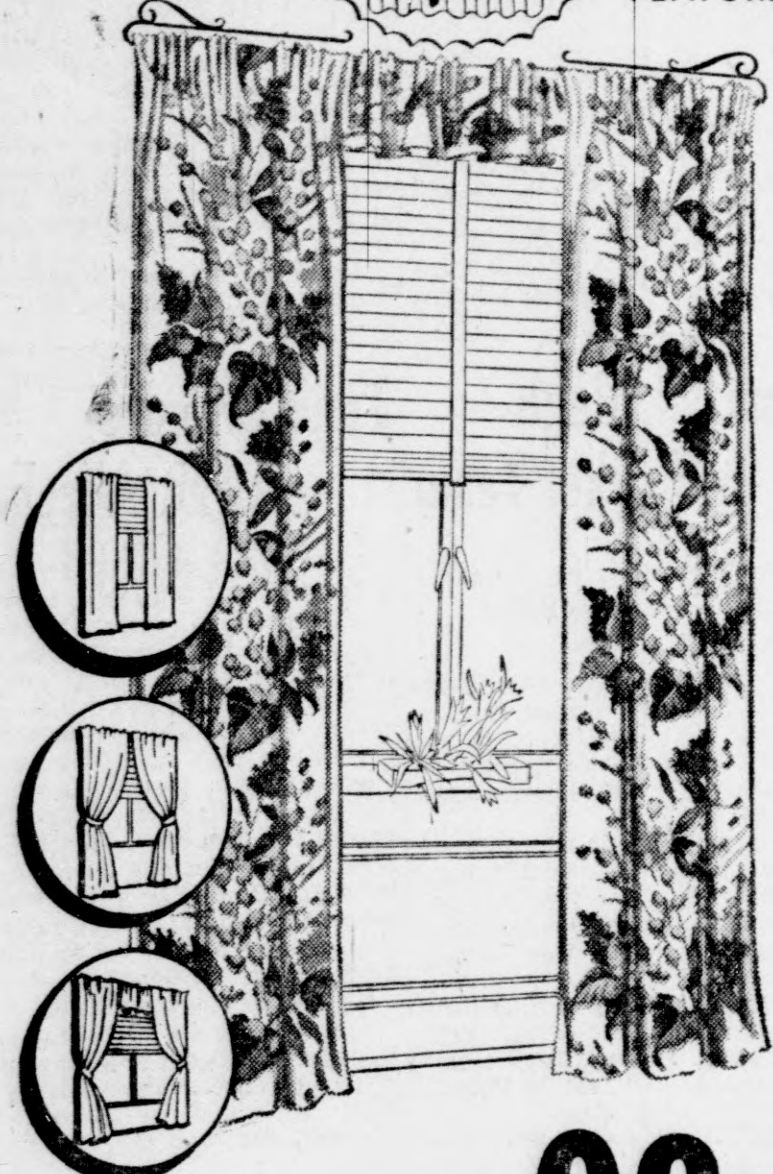

Come in and see the new RILCO Catalog of barns and other farm buildings. You can build better, stronger and faster with RILCO Rafter Arches.

Hughes Probe To Resume Soon

Expect Senate War Investigating Hearings To Resume About Nov. 1

By FRANK B. ALLEN
(U. S. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—A senate war investigating committee is streamlining its probe of west coast plane builder Howard Hughes in preparation for a resumption of hearings about Nov. 1.

An informed source said today that the resumed inquiry into Hughes' wartime plane contracts will be trimmed down to the question of whether $160,000 spent for entertainment was in line with what other war contractors spent and if it was properly reported for taxes.

The money was paid out largely by free-spending Johnny Meyer, Hughes publicity agent.

Will Branch Off

At the same time, it was said that the hearing will branch off to other firms, particularly one in which a high ranking army air force officer is suspected of having been an undercover stockholder.

Chairman Ferguson (R) Mich., and staff investigators have held a series of secret meetings with wartime procurement officers and contractors' representatives.

Ferguson steadfastly has declined to comment on what direction the inquiries are taking.

One Capitol Hill source said that when the hearings are resumed Hughes will be the first subject, but that the inquiry into his affairs will exclude such angles as the "Brewster-Hughes" feud, and the "Elliott Roosevelt matter".

Also trimmed out in the streamlining process, it was said, will be the controversial issue of whether the administration used good judgment in the 40 million dollar outlay on the Hercules flying cargo boat and the Hughes reconnaissance plane.

Robert Wylie, 23, was arrested September 29 as a suspect in the robbery and later implicated McCormick.

Police said they stole 125 bottles of whiskey.

What They Say Of Chest Drive

REV. JAMES N. RAINEY

Several leaders in our community have been approached for statements concerning the Community Chest campaign which gets under way in the greater New Castle area today. Their views will be published daily in The News.

Rev. James N. Rainey, president, New Castle Ministerial Association: "Give to the Community Chest. The Community Chest is your hand reaching out with help to twelve agencies. These agencies take your gift and in the taking of the gift accept the responsibility of doing service for you. Give to the Community Chest—Give and it shall be given unto you. The Almighty Father will do it so. In return you are given a satisfaction to your own soul, you receive a better community and in truth a better world. Give to the Community Chest and be loved with the love of God. 'God loveth a cheerful giver.' It is not your duty to give, it is your privilege."

Dr. David L. Perry, president, Lawrence County Medical Society:

"The medical profession is afforded an opportunity in calling on the homes of our people to more than fully appreciate the work being done by the respective Red Feather agencies. We know that the Chest does benefit everyone, if not directly, surely every one of us benefits when we live in a town where community spirit and conscience really protects the young people, strengthens family life, provide health and medical services, care for the helpless, handicapped and needy."

Family Night At Wesley Methodist

Homecoming week is in progress at the Wesley Methodist church, West Washington street, with Wednesday evening known as family night. Being conducted in connection with the Bible school of the church and Methodist Crusade for Christ, the first service of the celebration was held last Sunday, when a number of former members of the church were present to reminisce of other days in the history of the church.

Wednesday evening, Bible school superintendent, Jack Jones announced that an excellent program of music has been arranged, to be followed by a motion picture shown by Clay Aibel of the Pennsylvania Power Company.

The women of the W.A.C. class, directed by Mrs. Morris Cox, will serve lunch to the families and their friends.

Next Sunday, the closing day of the services, will bring other visiting speakers to the church at 11 o'clock. Miss Mary Riffer of the Senior High school faculty, will be present on that day to speak on a timely subject. More reminiscing will be in order during that time also.

According to the United States Women's Bureau, the largest fields for women are in clerical work, the teaching profession, and the professional field. About 250,000 women are now employed in each of these fields.

Michigan Called No. 1 Grid Team In Country

Crisler Juggernaut Is Rated Above Notre Dame

Herbert Orin (Fritz) Crisler, head football coach at the University of Michigan, in the opinions of the experts, has the No. 1 collegiate grid machine in the nation today.

The Wolverines have been placed in the pinnacle spot ahead of Notre Dame, the team everyone said would lead the pack down to the final wire for national supremacy this autumn.

Always Had Fine Teams

Crisler, a legendary figure at the big midwest school, has always had powerful and wondrously coached teams but somehow always missed out late in the season when it came time to name the mythical champ. And for a number of years the Wolverines were nudged out of the Western Conference title by their old rivals the Minnesota Gophers.

This year it looks like Michigan all the way in the Big Nine—and if they cop that toga they can add to their national status by charging into the Rose Bowl to meet the kingpins of the Far West.

Irish Play Criticized

Frank Leahy, the thorough taskmaster of Notre Dame has already been approached on the question: "What is the matter with the Irish?" a query that has raised Fearless Frank's dander and afforded a sharp answer or two.

True the South Bend machine has taken Pitt, 40-6 and Purdue, 22-7, but in both contests they appeared little like their build-up painted them. Pitt battled them to almost a standstill for the first half, and the Boilermakers gave them a rough afternoon, outgaining them in the final tabulation.

Most Improve Game

The Monday Morning Quarterbacks are wondering what will happen when the Irish meet a squad as physically endowed as their own—a team that can keep the pressure on the Irish and sound out the depth of their personnel. Army and U. S. C. loom as the teams to do just this and the druggsters critics stand tongue in cheek until these later meetings.

The core of the attack, Johnny Lusk (who Leahy calls the best T-quarterback extant), is very conspicuous by his absence when spelled, and if anything happens to the Connellsville Comet, the Irish may find the tortuous trial to the ton strewn with rocks.

Big Games Saturday

This week the Irish collide with Nebraska, a big but slow outfit which should crumble according to the script. Michigan goes against a dangerous Northwestern team.

Taking the other eight top teams of the nation we find the following pairings: California—Washington St., Minnesota—Illinois, Vanderbilt—Kentucky, Georgia Tech—Auburn, Texas—Arkansas, S. M. U.—Rice, Penn State and U. S. C., also powerful combines, clash with Syracuse and Oregon State respectively.

Stock Fish In Local Streams

Game Protector Reports Having Released 82 Quail In Lawrence County

When members of the Lawrence County Sportsman's association met last night in the courthouse it was reported the fall stocking of legal sized bass had been completed in the Little Beaver and Neshannock creek and also panfish had been stocked in several creeks.

The game protector reported he had released 82 quail in this county and he and also the sportsmen's officials requested that hunters not shoot them. They may revive the quail in this district if left alone.

Sportsmen reported having raised and released 339 pheasants this year.

The sportsmen passed a resolution out of respect to Jared M. B. Reis who passed away and is being laid to rest today. He formerly served on the state game commission.

A nominating committee was appointed to present nominations at the November meeting subsequent to the December election.

Geneva Prepping For Grover Tilt

Karcis and Company, (nee Geneva College) is trying to forget their easy 26-0 rout of Grove City, Saturday, in preparing for a serious test against a greatly improved Bethany College, Friday night. The game which was scheduled for Saturday afternoon at Bethany has been shifted to Friday night at Weirton, W. Va.

Adam "Atom" Karcis again applied his mastery in the Grove City win, contributing a touchdown and two touchdown passes along with some brilliant ball handling, running, kicking and defensive play.

Kick That Beat Cleveland Browns In A-A Upset

After failing to make good his field goal attempt on fourth down in the final quarter of the Cleveland Browns-Los Angeles Dons' game in Cleveland, Ben Agajanian, Dons' place-kicking star, was given another chance when Cleveland was penalized on the play for having 12 men on the field. This is the second chance, from the 23-yard line, and the kick was good, giving the Dons a 13-10 upset decision over the previously unbeaten Browns. The Cleveland player trying to block the place-kick (left) is End George Young. Coach Paul Brown of Cleveland (with hat) stands on sidelines.

Ellwood Trojans In Benefit Tilt

Unbeaten Semi-Pros To Meet Pittsburgh Club In Chest Fund Drive Tussle

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 15.—In a fine gesture to swell the Community Chest fund here, the unbeaten, untied Sportsmen's club-sponsored Trojans will tangle with the Pittsburgh Catholic Vets at Lincoln high field Saturday night. All proceeds of the game will go to the community collection total.

This town is buzzing over the deeds of their powerful semi-pros who have steamrollered three opponents so far this season. The McMurdo-Young combination has flattened Homewood A. A., 25-0, McKeeVets, 32-0 and Colored Corsairs of Pittsburgh, 19-0.

The Trojans will be drawing no walk-away in the Vets, members of American Legion Post 697, who won 14 games in 1946 and have fielded another terrific eleven this season. They are tutored by Bobby Noonan, ex-Geneva college star and former semi-pro luminary.

Their main threat is Dan Primarano, 210-lb. halfback who carried for Peabody High. As he goes so goes the Vet attack, and he is a performer who can do everything with a pigskin.

Kick-off is set for 8:15 p. m. and a record crowd is anticipated.

CHICAGO, Oct. 15.—(INS)—Lou Boudreau, manager-shortstop of the Cleveland Indians, was determined today to retain both jobs.

If the Indians wish to re-engage him.

The ace infielder, resting in his suburban Harvey home, said last night he still is waiting to hear from Bill Veeck, Cleveland president, of 1948 plans.

Boudreau made it clear he will not remain with the Indians in any capacity other than that of manager.

High Harriers Upset Ambridge

Coach Austin Cowmeadow Sees New Castle Runners Win Fifth Meet In Row

New Castle High's cross country team continued its quest of the state championship yesterday by downing Ambridge High over the "Bridger" course 20 to 35. Friday afternoon the Coach Austin Cowmeadow harriers will go to Mt. Lebanon for their first big test.

Both George Capps of New Castle and Dytell of Ambridge, the latter finishing second, bettered the Ambridge course record, Rytell doing the distance in 11:53 minutes and Capps in 11:58 minutes.

Very Fine Job

Other New Castle runners finished as follows: Dick Sampson third with 12:09, Dave Klingensmith fourth with 12:19, Jimmy Doone fifth with 12:24, Don Bogdon sixth with 12:30, Sid Lockley seventh with 12:40, Dave Johns ninth with 12:51, Ed Hill 11th with 13:22, Ben Haines 12th with 13:24, Leslie 16th with 13:52.

Ambridge took a first, eighth, 10th, 13th, 14th and 15th place.

In the first year for cross country at New Castle the boys have done a remarkable job, being undefeated in some rather stiff competition.

Keyes Lost For Game Friday At Mt. Lebanon Hi

First-String Right-Half Low In Grades, DiCola And Zeigler Still Nursing Injuries

New Castle High football stock took a drop today as low grades will keep first-string right-half Sammy Keyes, colored speed merchant, on the bench as the "Canes" prepare to meet Mt. Lebanon at the Mt. Lebanon field Friday at 3 o'clock.

Head Coach Phil Bridenbaugh has scheduled another heavy scrimmage session for this afternoon, the third in a row this week, in an effort to get better line play Friday. The New Castle blocking in the Farrell game was not up to par.

Pretty Fair Shape

John DiCola and Lou Zeigler are not expected to see much action this week, still nursing injuries. The rest of the line is in good physical shape, however, following the Farrell joust.

Mt. Lebanon has been kicked around pretty much this year and may bounce back against the local Castles. This will be the second year the only other contest being a 20 to 6 New Castle win in 1942, the year New Castle won the WPIAL class AA title, with Bobby Lee the spearhead.

This will be New Castle's fifth class AA game, three have been won and one tied.

New Castle's next home game is Friday, October 24, with Erie East High the opponent.

Bethlehem Hi Rated At Top

New Castle's Thanksgiving Opponent Climbs Into Lofly Schoolboy Perch

Bethlehem high school stands as the No. 1 scholastic grid machine in Pennsylvania today.

The powerful Easterners, who have won four straight games so far, turned back Steelton, 13-7 Saturday to win widespread recognition. The losers had previously trampled 12 straight foes in the East until they met their conquerors.

The No. 1 spot holders have also dispensed with Port Jervis, 19-0, Allentown Catholic, 14-7, Phillipsburg, 6-0. They meet New Castle Thanksgiving Day at Bethlehem. Their attack centers around Rocco Calvo, a passer whose deadly accurate tosses have stamped him as one of the best aerial threats in schoolboy circles.

New Castle Ousted

New Castle's Red Hurricane, until last week rated the west's top eleven, hit a snag against Farrell, the resulting 6-6 tie squashing their high standing, and reinstating New Kensington, the defending WPIAL champs, who walloped Erie Academy, 33-6.

Snubbed By Two Clubs, Schwenk Top AAC Passer

By LEO CONELIN
(International News Service Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—Wilson (Bud) Schwenk, who wasn't good enough for the Cleveland Browns or the Buffalo Bills, now is the best forward passer in the All-American Football conference.

Official figures released today show that the star tosser of the Baltimore Colts, who completed 15 out of 24 passes for 197 yards against Buffalo Sunday, has out-gained such stars as Frankie Albert, Glenn Dobbs, Otto Graham, Spec Sanders and George Ratterman.

Schwenk has completed 82 passes out of 149 for a total of 1024 yards this season. This tops the league in attempts, completions, and yards. However Schwenk has thrown only three touchdown passes and from a percentage standpoint in completed passes he trails both Sanders and Graham.

New York Leads In Passing
Six of the eight AAC clubs are completing more than 50 percent of their passes, topped by New York's 56.8 per cent and Cleveland's 56.1 per cent.

Schwenk's efforts last Sunday lifted him to second place behind Sanders in total offense. Sanders' total is 1217 yards and Schwenk's 1063.

Sanders also is the league's best punter. The star of the New York Yankees has averaged 46.7 yards per boot. Spec also leads the league in touchdowns, with eight, and in total points, with 48.

Horace (The Horse) Gillom, Cleveland's sensational freshman, is second to Sanders in punting, and Chet Mutyryn of the Buffalo Bills is runner-up to Spec in total points.

Cleveland's Mac Speedie has caught the most passes, 28.

Adamczyk, Pugh On Rocket Team

Local Athletes Helping Teachers College Eleven To Enjoy Fine Season

Ralph Pugh, former Ne-Ca-Hi player, and John Adamczyk, who played at Shenango High, are being highly praised in their posts as gridgers, at Slippery Rock State Teachers College.

Pugh is playing his second year with the varsity and is a substitute end, seeing considerable action. He is a member of the junior class and is also in the Varsity Letterman's club.

Adamczyk holds down a starting berth at tackle in his second year at the school. He is a Navy veteran and resides in "Trailer Town" and is in the junior class.

Both lads have been instrumental in keeping the Rocket victory string intact this year.

Joe Bedenk, Penn State line coach, has been on the campus of his alma mater for the last 19 years.

Titan Cripples Await Allegheny

WESTMINSTER College's football team's dressing quarters reek with the odor of arnica and liniment as the Titans make ready for the homecoming day game with Allegheny, here, Saturday afternoon.

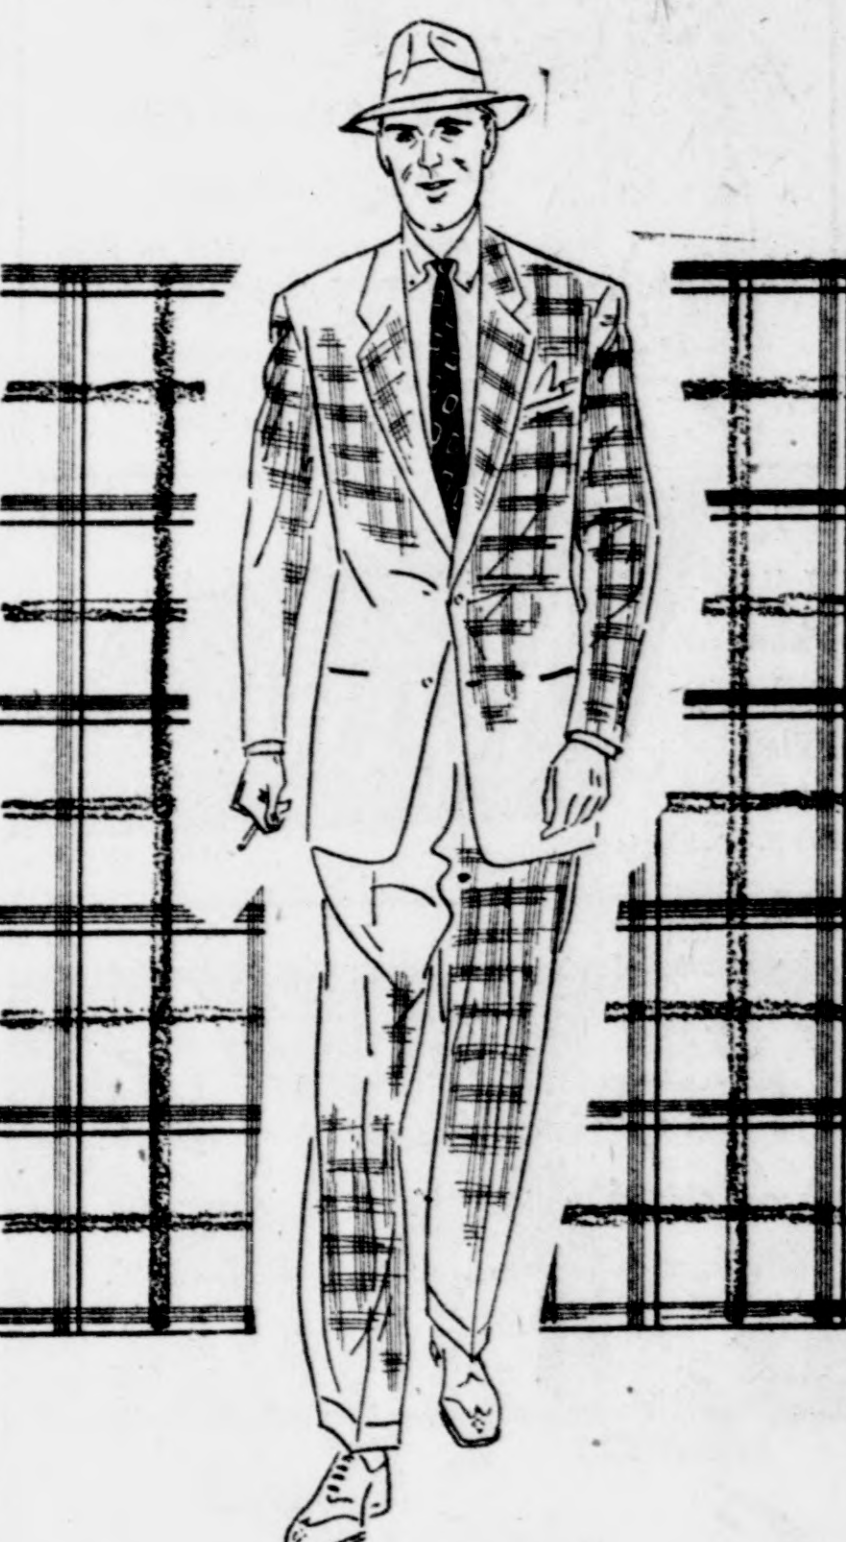

Westminster's out-manned eleven took a terrific beating at the hands of a fast-rushing Thiel eleven last Saturday. When Coach Mel Hetzler finished doctoring his boys last Saturday night he was convinced that at least four regulars will be out of action for the next several weeks.

Four Regulars Hurt

Topping the list of injured is Joe Demosie, fullback, key man of the Titan offense. The others are Wally Schumm, a guard; Fred Evanoff, end, and Gaylord Lutz, a back.

The meeting will be the 36th with Allegheny. The Gators have won 13 and the Titans have taken 13. Four contests resulted in ties. Westminster won 13-6 at Meadville, last year.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

DIGRESSING from the usual chatter in this column, Here & There today centers his attention on the Gay Nineties, which were featured by the Imperial Minstrels and barber shop quartets. The Imperial Minstrels were from the uptown section of the city and the Harmony Four was the first quartet, after which they changed their name to the Clover Leaf Four. The Harmony quartet was composed of Jack Griffith, Bill Scollings, Hugh Ward and Bert Sanford. They were part of the Imperial Minstrels. Later the quartet was composed of Scollings, Ward, Sanford and Arch Cubbison. On the South Side, they had the Curb Stone quartet, and according to Bill (Sapho) Jones, he believes the four were the first to "go by" that name. It was composed of Phil Taylor, Bert Sanford, Doc Beatty and Jones. "We rehearsed at George Brown's poolroom which was located at Long avenue and South Mill street, Jack Young, former city policeman, was manager of the quartet. Then along came the Tin Mill quartet, the Cold Roll Four which was comprised of Grant Parks, myself (Jones), Joe Loving and Harry Robison. The Cold Rolls also sang in the Imperial Minstrels, a 1902. Some of us left who played in the Imperial Minstrels, Jack Griffith, Bert Sanford, Jack Griffith. Hugh Hanna was end man, Jack Griffith, bass, Sanford was tenor, and I was baritone" Jones states.

In 1905 the Imperials was changed to Keystone Minstrels and they kept going until 1931. The last show given was for the Jameson Memorial hospital. The interluders were Jack Lynch and Hugh Hannan. The stage director was Bert Sanford. Dy Jones was musical director, Curly Bill Jones was pianist. End men were Paul Donley, Harry Elwell, Bob Dukes, Al Buser and Bill Jones. Some of the soloists were Chester Biddle, Bert Sanford, Walter Donley, Dan Jenkins, Dy Jones, Frank Delle, Ed Donley, Harry Wymer and Rhys Williams (who had a part in "How Green Is My Valley" and has appeared in other "movies"). Rhys is a baritone. Harry Masters was a bass.

MERCER, Pa., Oct. 15.—(INS)—Mercer county "wets" today had lost in their second attempt to have the results of a local option vote ruled out.

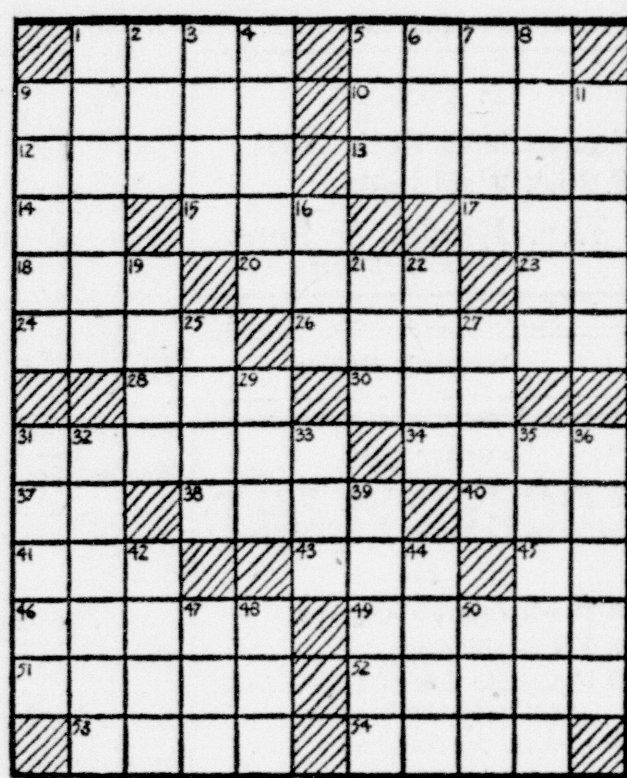

Judge George H. Rowley denied a petition filed by Joseph Pontecura of Mercer, who claimed the election was not legal. A week ago, Judge Rowley certified the Pine township result, after the voting machines were opened and a recount made.

Both Mercer borough and Pine township voted "dry" in the primary elections last month.

Edward Bright of Essex, England (1720-1750) weighed 616 pounds at his death; David Lambert of Leicester (1770-1809) weighed at death 739 pounds.

America Bulwark Against Spread Of Communism

HARRISBURG, Oct. 14.—(INS)—America was seen Monday as a bulwark against the spread of Communism in Europe by Thomas B. McCabe, Chester industrialist formerly associated with the War and State departments.

In a speech to the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers' Association at Harrisburg Saturday night, he said Americans must be willing to make necessary sacrifices to establish a sound economy in Europe. McCabe said the nation's industrial stability would be reflected in the restoration of Europe. "I am convinced," he declared, "that the Marshall plan has done more to create hope and confidence in Europe, and conversely has caused more consternation in Russia than any other happening since the war."

If Americans assured a sound economy in Europe "the Soviet satellites will give Russia plenty of trouble," McCabe asserted.

The tortoise's voice is not well developed, the females usually being able only to hiss.

The Everglades are extensive swamps in Florida. The land, lower than the coast and by slightly above sea level, is covered with fresh water. The islands protruding above swamp level are called hummocks.

It is said that simple goiter is more prevalent in women than in men.
